About Me

I am Matei, a motivated student and aspiring developer passionate about technology and continuous learning. I bring solid hands-on experience in QA Testing across Console, PC, and Nintendo platforms, combined with growing front-end development skills in Python, HTML, CSS, and JavaScript. I am friendly, honest, punctual, and thrive in collaborative environments — having also mentored junior team members in QA processes. In the past year, I have expanded my skill set through AI-assisted development, building personal projects and deepening my knowledge of modern web development tools.
